36 DIE IN TCA CRASH

Canada's Worst Air Line Disaster

PARTY OF VICTORIANS REASSURES RELATIVES

Chamber of Commerce members, now on a good-will tour of Alberta in a TCA North Star, telephoned reassuring messages today from Banff.

They sought to allay family anxieties that might have been stirred by today's North Star plane crash at Moose Jaw.

The 31 Victorians in the Chamber tour traveled by train this forenoon to the Rocky Mountain resort.

They will re-board their chartered TCA North Star at Calgary Friday for the flight to Edmonton, and will fly home Saturday.

U.S. Transport Planes To Aid French Forces

Will Bolster Supply Line to Besieged Dien Bien Phu; Dulles Will Fly to Europe

LONDON (Reuters)—U.S. State Secretary Dulles will fly to London and Paris next week for talks about Indo-China, and the forthcoming Geneva conference, it was reliably learned here today. Dulles' visit will be a direct follow-up of his appeal last week for "united action" to prevent southeast Asia falling under Communist domination.

Body of Second Alberta Child Found in River

RED DEER, Alta. (CP)—The body of a six-year-old Red Deer boy was recovered today from the Red Deer River 17 hours after his five-year-old girl playmate was found, also drowned.

Jimmy Hewlett and Janie Pollock vanished from their homes about noon Monday. More than 2,000 residents of this central Alberta city of 9,000 reinforced an RCMP search for the pair. RCAF personnel and planes, soldiers and police dogs joined in.

The searchers found one clue—children's footprints leading to a hole in the ice on the river.

The wide-scale ground search was called off Tuesday night, but RCMP, RCAF and fire department men, aided by about 100 others, continued Wednesday blasting the ice and dragging the river.

The girl's body was found at 2 p.m. Wednesday. Ice-blasting and dragging operations were continued until the boy's body was discovered at 7.30 a.m. today.

It was believed the children were standing near a sewer outlet when a section of ice gave way. Mike Belich, neighbor of the grief-stricken families, was poking into the water with a stick when he found the girl's body.

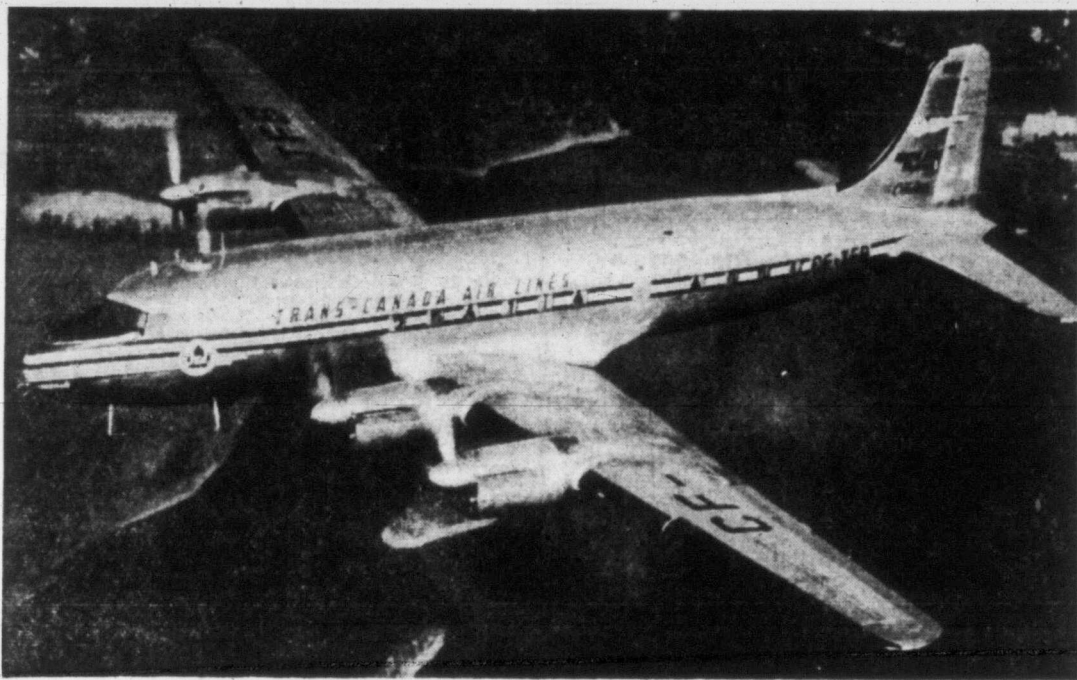

"From the footprints, it looked as if the children were holding hands when the ice broke," Belich said.

Airline's Record Marred By Accident

An air line safety record regarded as the world's best was marred by the fatal TCA crash at Moose Jaw today.

It is only the third fatal accident in the 15-year history of the company. Since 1947, when the last crash occurred the airline has flown 3,528,903,480 passenger miles without accident.

The first occurred at Armstrong, Ontario, February 6, 1941, when 12 died in a Lockheed twin-engine transport.

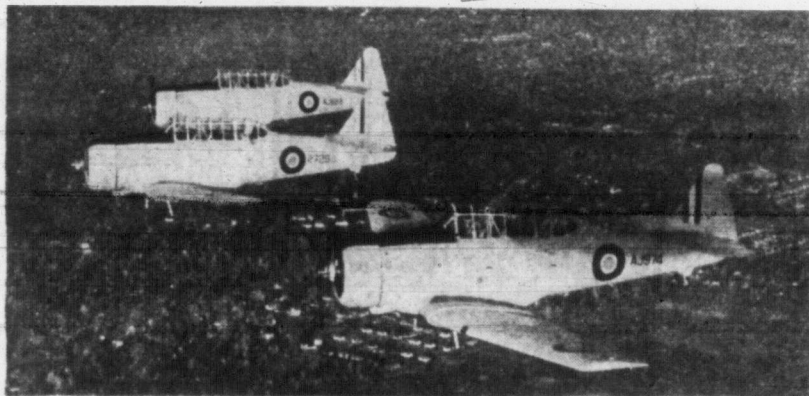

On April 29, 1947, a TCA Lockheed Constellation disappeared somewhere between Vancouver and Vancouver Island.

An intensive search by air, sea and land was carried on for nearly a month before hope of finding the lost plane and its 15 passengers and three crew members was abandoned.

At one time 50 aircraft, including 13 U.S. Coast Guard planes, took part in the search. They swept an area of 12,000 square miles without result.

The Esquimalt-based frigate Antigonish searched Gulf of Georgia waters, using asdic, and reported a contact near Gabriola Island. However, navy divers who painstakingly searched 100,000 square feet of ocean floor found no trace of the plane.

Ground searchers ran down reports of low-flying planes in the Duncan-Nanaimo area without results. Search parties climbed Thunder Mountain, near Nanaimo, Mount Coquitlam and Seymour Mountain on the mainland.

2ND H-BOMB CONTAMINATES TUNA CARGOES

TOKYO (UP)—Two fishing boats returned to Japan today with radio-active tuna, apparently as result of the second U.S. hydrogen bomb explosion in the Pacific March 26.

Skippers of both vessels said they were outside the 450-mile danger area which was tripled in size after 23 Japanese fishermen were burned in the March 1 explosion.

Health officials who boarded the Shoho Maru and the Kai-fuku Maru ordered parts of their tuna catches destroyed when geiger counters clicked at an alarming speed.

None of the fishermen showed any radiation effects although parts of both boats showed radio-activity.

Chronicle of Canada's Major Air Disasters

By THE CANADIAN PRESS

Today's collision at Moose Jaw was the first Canadian air disaster in more than a year in which the death toll exceeded 10.

The last major crash in Canada occurred March 18, 1953, when a United States RB-36 bomber bound from the Azores to its home base at Rapid City, N.D., with 23 aboard crashed in flames at Smith Sound on the east coast of Newfoundland.

BUILDINGS BATTERED, FIRES STARTED

Ontario Hit by Baby Tornadoes And Fierce Electrical Storms

"TORONTO (BUP)—Scattered 'baby tornadoes' and fierce electrical storms left a trail of fires, battered buildings and broken power, and telephone lines across Ontario today.

The electrical storms were general from Windsor to Cornwall and beyond Sudbury. The twisters were reported in Meaford, Whitby and Brantford.

Lightning bolts started several costly fires. Back roads were blocked by trees and telephone lines were down in several areas. Scores of communities went without power for varying periods.

Shortly after the Dominion weather bureau withdrew a tornado warning Wednesday night, twisters barreled into Meaford. A garage owned by William Bowins was sucked up, hurled into a neighbor's laneway and demolished.

"I could see it lift right up during a lightning flash," said Mrs. Douglas Wade. "The next minute the garage was thrown down again, just a pile of rubble."

Chimneys and boards were knocked from buildings and limbs ripped from trees.

In Brantford, another garage was lifted out of the John Mann Coal Co. yards, swept 50 feet through the air and dumped atop a canning factory.

Television aerials, tree limbs and billboards were toppled, blocking nine city streets and country roads. For a while all entrances to Brantford were blocked by debris.

MOOSE JAW, Sask. (CP)—Thirty-six persons were killed today when a westbound Trans-Canada Air Lines North Star and an RCAF training plane collided over northeastern Moose Jaw and crashed in flames.

Eye-witnesses said the Harvard trainer, carrying a pilot only, smashed into the right wing of the four-engined passenger aircraft with 31 passengers and crew of four aboard.

Early reports said there were no survivors in the worst accident ever involving a scheduled airliner in Canada.

The North Star, its wing torn off by the collision, tumbled to earth, turning into a great ball of flame as it dropped.

Pieces flew everywhere as it struck the ground. One gas tank crashed into a house and set it afire. Two other houses also were set ablaze.

There were no firm reports of casualties among residents but a cleaning woman in one house was believed missing.

The Winnipeg Free Press in a Moose Jaw dispatch said two children of Gordon Hume, service station operator, were missing after a plane engine demolished the Hume home.

However, a later report said the children were safe. Hundreds of men and women who searched the Willowdale golf course where the TCA plane struck found no survivors.

The Harvard trainer was based at the North Atlantic Treaty Organization field near Moose Jaw.

Trans-Canada at Montreal said 31 passengers, including five travelling on company passes, and four crew were aboard the North Star on the Winnipeg-Calgary leg of its transcontinental flight. The plane left Montreal and Toronto Wednesday night, delayed by thunder storms in western and northern Ontario.

At 11.30 a.m. (10.30 p.m. PST) 16 bodies had been recovered. That was about an hour and 15 minutes after the aerial collision.

Names of passengers aboard the smashed planes were not available three hours after the first report of the crash. Trans-Canada at Montreal said next-of-kin would be notified before names were given to the press.

'UNGODLY EXPLOSION'

Harvard Demolished House; 'Bundle of Rags' Was Body

MOOSE JAW, Sask. (BUP)—Mrs. V. I. Brown, who was in a house immediately north of Hume house which was struck by the Harvard plane.

She said she was in bed at 10 a.m. local time when she heard an "ungodly explosion" and thought the end of the world had come.

She ran to her back door and saw that half of the Hume house was missing. She ran to the front door and saw what looked like a bundle of rags. This turned out to be one of the bodies.

The planes crashed only one block from Ross Public School. The school principal, Miss Bowering, organized an orderly exit from the school.

Gordon MacKinnon was on the eastern city limits when he looked up and saw the TCA plane. A second later he saw either the wing or the tail of the plane drop off and the plane began spinning towards the earth.

Lorne Silverman, who was three-quarters of a mile from the crash heard a dull thud from the northern section of the city and saw the great plane plunging earthward.

One engine of the four-engined airliner was found eight or 10 blocks away, a distance of about a mile. The bodies of the victims were scattered over a very large area.

STONES, BOTTLES RAIN IN GUIANA

300 Leftist Demonstrators Meet Tear Gas As Police Quell New Jagan Demonstrations

GEORGETOWN, British Guiana (Reuters)—Police strengthened their patrols in an atmosphere of mounting tension in this British colony today after 300 demonstrators met police tear gas with a barrage of stones and bottles in a riot Wednesday night.

Waves of gas finally broke up the demonstration outside the headquarters of the left-wing People's Progressive Party and drove Mrs. Janet Jagan, wife of the colony's deposed premier, out of the building.

Six persons were arrested for attacking police in the bottle-throwing fracas, which began as a protest rally against the arrest of ex-premier Dr. Cheddi Jagan. They included

Rudy Luck, lawyer who unsuccessfully defended Mrs. Jagan last December when she was charged and found guilty of holding an illegal political meeting. Police closed the party headquarters and threw a cordon of sentries with fixed bayonets around it.

ILLEGAL MEETING
Fifteen other persons were arrested Wednesday for holding an illegal mass meeting near Government House. Assemblies of more than five persons are banned under emergency regulations in force since Jagan's government was deposed by Britain last year for allegedly trying to set up a Communist state in the South American colony.

Latest move in the colonial government's campaign against agitation by the party came when Jagan was arrested Monday for holding an illegal procession. He had just been bailed out of jail after a previous arrest for leaving Georgetown in violation of official orders.

The demonstration Wednesday night began as a protest against a magistrate's refusal to grant bail to Jagan and five other party leaders arrested on the second charge Wednesday.

RUGGED TENN. LAWYER NAMED TO PROBE MCCARTHY-ARMY FEUD

WASHINGTON (UP)—Ray H. Jenkins, a rawboned mountain lawyer who "never lost a client to the electric chair," started hunting a staff today to help him investigate the McCarthy-Army feud.

Jenkins, a Knoxville, Tenn., Taft Republican, said he has a "completely open" mind about the case. He promised to assemble the facts of the brawl between the army and Sen. Joseph R. McCarthy (R., Wis.) and present them "fairly, fully and impartially" to the Senate investigating subcommittee.

From then on, he said, it will be up to the subcommittee to make up its own mind. Jenkins, rugged-looking six-foot-three, 57-year-old trial lawyer, was picked unanimously by the six voting members of the subcommittee late Wednesday as the impartial counsel to head the inquiry. McCarthy, regular subcommittee chairman, did not participate in Jenkins' selection. He is away from the capital.

COLE ANSWERS MCCARTHY

No Sinister Move By U.S. In Development of H-Bomb

WASHINGTON (AP)—Representative W. Sterling Cole says he knows of nothing sinister in the fact that high United States officials debated for months before deciding to press work on the hydrogen bomb, a weapon the government says is due for "greatly increased production."

Cole, New York Republican who heads the congressional atomic energy committee, recalled Wednesday night that full-scale work on the awesome weapon was not decided upon until four months after Russia's first explosion in 1949 of an atomic fission bomb.

"This fact is not of itself sinister," he added, "nor does it imply that those who opposed the president's final decision were motivated by a desire to lessen our military strength."

Cole conceded that events have proved he was wrong in urging against the decision to go ahead with the super-bomb.

The Nation's Budget

NO ONE WHO CAN UNDERSTAND simple figures expected Mr. Abbott to reduce taxes substantially in his final budget. With the minor but useful cuts in some sales taxes the government probably is budgeting for a deficit, though it may be disguised, for bookkeeping purposes, in the shortages of the old-age pension system. Until the defence program can be safely reduced, or until the nation's total wealth grows, the federal taxpayer need expect no large relief, and in British Columbia the provincial taxpayer, the same man, is now assuming new burdens.

But if Mr. Abbott's budget makes no large tax changes it is a highly important budget for several reasons.

After one lamentable lapse, in its anti-dumping law, the government has rejected out of hand the widespread demand for increased tariffs and it is hopeful that the free world is moving in the same direction.

"There is," says Mr. Abbott, "a growing impatience with the existing system of direct trade controls and discriminations and an increased awareness of the serious economic damage which results from the perpetuation of such policies. To a greater extent than at any time since the end of the war, overseas countries are showing a willingness to envisage basic changes in their trade policy in order to deal with their exchange problems in a fundamental way." And he adds that "if we were to meet every breath of competition by increased protection we would certainly become a high-cost economy and progressively aggravate our problems."

The rejection of the easy course into high tariffs, high production costs and falling international trade, seems to be complete. With this budget and with the new Japanese trade treaty, the government has laid down a policy of expanding trade and apparently will stick to it. In the face of protectionist pressure within the Liberal Party and the Cabinet itself, this requires high political courage, the sort always displayed by the retiring minister of finance.

Secondly, he rejects panic measures to cure a very small and, he believes, a passing decline in some lines of business. He thinks that drastic Keynesian remedies at this point would do far more harm than good, for he is confident that by autumn the nation will resume the economic tempo of 1933, or most prosperous year, and that the year as a whole probably will produce more wealth than ever. This decision also is wise and courageous.

Thirdly, Mr. Abbott warns Canadian industry that it is now living in a highly competitive world, that it must sell, at home and abroad, at the prices offered by the market.

"Some readjustments in production," he says, "in costs and in price policies are necessary and, indeed, are going on. . . . Some of our industries are finding that they have not watched their costs as carefully as they should, that their breaking points are uncomfortably high and that their costs and prices are out of line."

Whatever the government may do, they must be brought into line, for the sharply competitive conditions now prevailing throughout the world are beyond the control of any government, anywhere. Canadian industrialists and labor unions will disregard Mr. Abbott's clear warning at their own peril—and at the peril of the whole national economy.

Fourth, Mr. Abbott answers without hesitation the question raised by Mr. Duplessis with his Quebec provincial income tax. In levying this extra charge on his people Mr. Duplessis demanded that the Federal Government deduct it from the federal income tax. A deduction of 5 per cent is already allowed. Mr. Abbott bluntly refuses to increase it by a cent. He cannot without destroying piecemeal the whole structure of federal-provincial tax agreements on which the budgets of all provinces, except that of Quebec, are based.

Against all the influence of Mr. Duplessis' political machine Mr. Abbott is standing firm and the existing policy is safe. In time the Quebec people no doubt will understand that their increased taxes are entirely Mr. Duplessis' responsibility. The rest of the nation will not pay them.

Altogether this is the kind of sober, sensible and fact-finding budget which the Canadian people have learned to expect from Mr. Abbott after his eight notable years in the treasury. When he leaves it shortly the nation will have lost the most experienced finance minister in the English-speaking world and one of the ablest public servants in Canadian history. This will be a grave loss at a time when Mr. Abbott's ability and experience would be most valuable. Is it too late to hope that Mr. Abbott will change his mind?

Balcony Seat for War

THE POSSIBILITY THAT science may succeed in getting an artificial satellite to circle the earth a thousand miles overhead is an intriguing thought. Although probably invisible to the naked eye of earth dwellers, the tiny man-created body would provide a vantage point from which the whole globe could be surveyed in the same way that one may, from an upstairs window, watch all the goings-on in a neighbor's back yard.

Much of the scientific value of such a satellite would be its freedom from atmospheric dust, permitting new exploration of the heavens, study of cosmic rays and other phenomena. But it is the military value, of course, which provides its main attraction.

His Work Is Remembered

THIS WEEK VICTORIA LOST another of that generation of men who worked quietly and conscientiously to make this a better city. Alex Macdonald, who retired in 1946 from the post of superintendent of Victoria's public works department, died Monday night.

With his passing the narrowing circle of those who have helped since near the beginning of this century to care for Victoria's physical welfare shrank a little closer.

They are people to whom Victorians today owe a substantial debt. Mr. Macdonald personified them.

During his 25 years with the city, there was always a job for

From such a "platform" the owners could keep any country under close surveillance, and, more important still, launch all manner of lethal projectiles at any desired spot on the globe. It has been said that any nation with such a fortress in space could master the world.

If that is the case, "military necessity" may no doubt eventually make available the astronomical sums that would be required to carry out such a project. But the layman, viewing such a possibility, will have only one thought uppermost: could they, in planning the satellite, make it large enough to accommodate a peace-lover or two who might seek sanctuary from a planet becoming all too small for mankind?

Alex to do or to supervise. He did it with a minimum of show and a minimum of friction. Men worked for him willingly, enjoying the dry humor he brought to almost any situation, knowing he would not ask from them tasks beyond their ability, or, no matter how menial the work, detract from their dignity as men.

To the gangs he was a good boss, to the city a trustworthy servant, and to hosts of friends in all walks of life a man of sympathy, understanding and quiet good fellowship.

In a town that was much smaller, he was a highly respected member of Victoria's family.

Neat and Tidy Demise

A NEW MOUSETRAP HAS BEEN invented and presumably, following the adage, the world will beat a path to the door of the inventor as long as mice beat a path to the trap. The new device is modern, streamlined, efficient and completely ghoulish. It is far more horrible than the old "SNAP!" You've had it type of trap. It is smooth, scientific and merciless. It is typically 20th century.

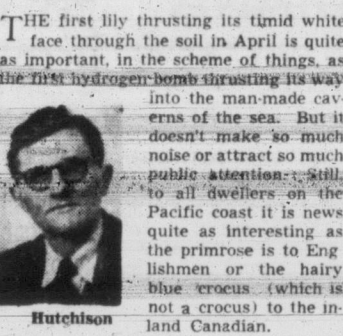

The trap consists of a plastic tube into which the mouse is lured by an attractive smell. Prongs at the entrance prevent him from backing out. Ahead of him the mouse sees a small morsel, designed to look like cheese. In reality it is poison. The mouse nibbles a bit and falls dead, neatly encased for disposal in his plastic coffin.

The poison is quick-acting. Presumably the victim has no time to reflect ironically that in his moment of death he has approximated the fate of the human hunters who have done him in. For what more grotesque but genuine caricature could be devised than this tiny working-model of mankind: earnestly munching poison in a sick, one-way, plastic rut, ready to be buried or atomized on a production line basis.

LOOSE ENDS

The Lilies of April

THE lily (which is not a lily but an erythronium in the hideous jargon of botany) is the most striking and satisfactory sort of news precisely because it is not new but as old, familiar and full of memories as every man's lost childhood. It is the only kind of news that will be long remembered, and the lilies, no doubt, will be nodding primly in the April breeze after man has finally gutted and departed this planet.

WILD flowers were made for children to pick, for old people to observe without picking. By a natural instinct, by an inevitable spring union with nature, the child gathers the lilies and comes running home to announce a new marvel to parents who probably are watching a repulsive television show from New York, making up their April income tax returns, listening to a radio report of the U.S. Atomic Commission or otherwise enjoying the advantages of civilization. The child, at this time of year, asks nothing more than a blossom which appears sufficiently wonderful to him. But give him time. He will learn better under the tutelage of his elders.

THE hot and grimy little hands which now clutch a bunch of lilies, hairballs or dandelions will be carefully taught to clutch wortier prizes in the struggle of commerce, in the competition for a higher living standard than the poorer works of nature can ever know.

Observe well the ragged little boy who brings flowers home from the woods. Not many years hence, trained, polished and hardened by education and the example of his elders, he will be bringing home the bacon, his hands will clutch a cheque book, a dividend or an interest coupon, and in place of patched overalls he will perhaps wear the garments of aldermanic splendor, even a mayor's gold chain and purple cloak, or the black coat and homburg uniform of federal office.

By BRUCE HUTCHISON

GIVE him time. He cannot learn the vital lessons of life in a single month of April.

Meanwhile, a sane society (what a charming and fantastic springtime notion!) would forbid all, but children to pick wildflowers, for they alone have earned the right by the brief title deeds of their childhood.

Indeed, I would go further and forbid anyone, except the sick and old, to pick or enjoy any flowers unless he has grown at least an equivalent quantity with his own hands.

We might make an exception for the people of large cities where flowers do not grow, but in most of the cities and towns of Canada there is plenty of room in every garden for all the flowers that a reasonable person can want. And it is only the child who finds flowers growing wild or the man who grows them for himself by his own labor who can possibly appreciate or deserve them.

FOR all the impassioned arguments of politics and the sleek figures of the economists, the basic trouble with our civilization is that hardly anyone makes anything any more or knows how it is made. Most of the things we use, from our clothing to our automobiles, are too complicated for our understanding. The flower is one of the few things left within our reach and the clumsiest hand can grow it to perfection.

Yet most men have departed so far from childhood that though they could grow a perfectly good daffodil merely by pushing a bulb into the ground, they prefer to buy it in a store.

This no doubt is good for business but of little use to the purchaser, for he has purchased only half the pleasure freely offered by the earth, only the poor corpse of a flower commercially embalmed.

BUT one cannot go on this way without being suspected of subversion in this best of all possible worlds, when the lilies and the nuclear bombs are exploding simultaneously, since man and nature have learned to work so closely together.

I started out only to observe that the lilies are blooming in a cluster of oaks not far off and the children are gathering them in the old-fashioned and obsolete fashion. Now I am able to report the encouraging news that, by next April, an apartment house will be standing on that site, progress will be issuing from every window in the sound of radio and television, civilization will march on and the children will grow up, turning from worthless flowers to the important things of life.

preached to others I merely become a castaway." Did Luther read this? ## HOW CHEAP?

When I read the returns from the preview of "Trouble in Store" at the Odeon Theatre in aid of the Solarium, I was absolutely disgusted. Some 1200 persons gave $640 for admission which is about $50 each. How cheap can people get? My hope is that those who were responsible for the cancellation of ticket selling and those who gave the minimum to get in to see the show will not have occasion to have one of their loved ones as patients in the Solarium.

It's grand to know that there are people like Mr. Brown of the Odeon and a fine staff who are prepared to give themselves to such a good project by helping the Solarium Junior League to carry on.

WHAT IS GOOD

Your letter correspondent (Simple Simon) does a nice job in paralyzing, with verbal mirrors, the recent assertion "What's good for General Motors is good for the United States," and concluding that "What's good for Canada is good for General Motors."

My entry, however, for the top spot applicable not alone to the United States and Canada, but to "Ford" and the man in the street, is: "What's good for agriculture is good for the urban world."

Cross-Country Viewpoints

PRELIMINARIES (Winnipeg Free Press)

If Mr. Molotov wishes to be regarded as a sincere candidate for admission to NATO, he should address himself to the removal of the causes which brought NATO into being as a defence against Soviet aggression.

He might begin by undoing the Prague coup which was the immediate incentive for the rallying of the Western nations in a tight security system. (Mr. Molotov is ingenious and should have no difficulty in finding means to liquidate the present Prague gauliteers.) The next step should be the withdrawal of the Red Army behind the Russian frontiers with appropriate supplementary international action to remove the existing terror regimes in Eastern Europe and to ensure free elections in accordance with the long-dishonored peace treaties. Other steps, such as the suppression of the Cominform and a new attitude of co-operation in such matters as the international control of fissionable materials will readily suggest themselves to his perceptive mind.

STRONG SMOKE (Ottawa Citizen)

One thing can be said for pipe or cigar smokers. They stick to their convictions. In many places they're merely tolerated, and in some they're excoriated altogether. Trans-Canada Air Lines, which has again decided not to allow them to light up on its aircraft, is only one of a number of organizations that abhor pipe and cigar smoke. At social gatherings, hostesses pointedly whisk away their ash trays the instant a cigar is butted or a pipe emptied; if there is a fan, the hostess turns it on. Yet the smokers, hounded, scorned, and rejected, hold fast to their faith in cigars or pipes as a source of contentment. They have guts.

Strong smoke is not, of course, without practical use. It has value in distracting an opponent at bridge, and can hold mosquitoes at bay. It is conducive to solitude for those who wish to be alone, and it especially discourages close communion with the weak and finicky. It readily solves the problem of what to buy father for Christmas. But all those advantages accrue to the smoker himself. His companion has no compensating benefits, especially in a confined space; he must endure without reward. TCA is right.

MOPERY AND GAWK (Toronto Globe and Mail)

Years ago, the police declare, country magistrates would fine vagrants for moping and gawking if evidence against the vagrants would support no other conviction. It is time that these ancient (and mythical) offenses were formalized and added to the Highway Traffic Act. Offenders who moped along in the middle of the road, gawking at nothing in particular, under a new section of the act, would be presented with a summons to appear before the nearest magistrate. The act, as it now stands, has no section whatever which declares that a motorist must drive on the travelling, or curb, lane of a multi-lane highway when not passing another vehicle.

In Toronto, mopes and gawkers are to some extent confirmed in their possession of the middle of the road by the practice of permitting a motorist to pass other vehicles on the right (or wrong) side. Further confirmation is lent by the fact that a driver who chooses to move at a slower rate than the body of traffic is at fault if he turns into the middle of a street in order to avoid a parked car in his path, and is attacked from the rear by another vehicle.

MATTER OF DEBATE (Montreal Gazette)

Hansard has as its title, "House of Commons Debates: Official Report." Debate should be a testing, a winnowing process, by which the good is sorted from the bad, the wheat from the chaff. It should be keen, concentrated, penetrating, essentially spontaneous. But little of the sort takes place at Ottawa these days. Most of the members deliver what may be described as "set pieces." They are so well set by the time they reach the House as to be actually rigid. They may be read from a text, or at least the text may be followed very closely.

They are not really delivered to the House itself, for the House may be almost empty at the time. The member who is speaking, however, is not greatly disturbed by this inattention. He expects it. He dictates his piece to the Hansard stenographer. Then he gathers up his text and departs through the curtains. He rarely stays to listen to any reply, for a reply is highly improbable.

The member who follows him in "the debate," even if opposed to his views, is unlikely to make more than a passing reference to them, if he even does that. This second member is only interested in dictating his set piece to the Hansard stenographer also. And so it goes.

Whatever this process may be called, it can hardly be called debating.

WORKED TOO HARD (Hamilton Spectator)

In the Lancashire town of Wigan there is a merchant tailoring firm where a Mr. Prosser, a cutter, is employed. Mr. Prosser is a member of the National Union of Tailors and Garment Workers. The other day he was asked to attend a branch meeting to explain why he had cut two suits above the weekly maximum output of 46 permitted by the union. Apparently, Mr. Prosser was unable to explain satisfactorily why he had worked harder than he should have done and, according to The Times of London, he was fined ten shillings and sixpence.

It seems that Mr. Prosser had contravened a by-law passed by his union branch restricting the number of suits a cutter could cut in a week in Lancashire tailoring shops to prevent over-production.

This seems to be a case in which the economics of sectional interest have smothered morality.

REVOLVING COG (Halifax Chronicle-Herald)

A United States firm is reported to be planning to start production this year in motorized revolving doors, thus bringing one step nearer the complete muscular atrophy of modern man. The wheels of industry will revolve to revolve, but now they will revolve to draw the employee into their orbit, as well as revolving to keep him busy while he is there. And while it is a commonplace to speak of a man as a cog in the machine even today, the phrase will receive an even greater significance when he becomes a cog, which meshes neatly into a section of a revolving door, to be smoothly and efficiently waited forward to his place at the bench or the desk.

The next step in the mass assembly of a factory or office staff will presumably be the provision of a conveyor-belt to snatch employees out of the grip of the revolving door and carry them, faintly and ineffectually protesting, to their appointed places, where a mechanical grab will see to it that they disembark at the correct time and place.

MARKED FOR READING CAN LIVE ON

The task of modern idealists is made much too easy for them by the fact that they are always taught that if a thing has been defeated it has been disproved.

—G. K. Chesterton (1910).

NOTHING FOR NOTHING

It's unwise to pay too much, but it's worse to pay too little. When you pay too much, you lose a little money—that is all. When you pay too little, you sometimes lose everything, because the product you bought was incapable of doing the thing it was bought to do. The common law of business balance prohibits paying a little and getting a lot—it can't be done. If you deal with the lowest bidder, it is well to add something for the risk you run. And if you do that, you will have enough to pay for something better.

—John Ruskin.

Gruesome Education

HE'S a thin scraggly boy with catholic interests that include cowboy comics, 3-D movies, the Sunday night radio dramatization of the Horatio Hornblower story and, currently, the last article in the National Geographic Magazine.

It's not his usual line of reading, his parents tell me, and they suspect he skipped a page or two, but the rest of it made him sit up and take notice.

Enke

"You should read it," he told me, when I chanced to meet him with his parents in a downtown grocery store. "Been dead 2,000 years. They took his fingerprints, and they were just like he was a living person. Analyzed his stomach, too."

"It sounds gruesome," I observed, dodging a determined woman who was bearing down on me with a wire wagon piled perilously high.

"Sure is," he agreed happily.

He's right. It's grisly stuff. It's also just the stuff to give any normally intelligent boy of eight to eighteen. And if I were a teacher trying to interest my class in prehistoric man, I'd make that article work for me.

It's written by Dr. P. V. Glob, professor of European archaeology at Aarhus University in Denmark. Apparently, he has numerous peat-bogs. And peat—which was news to me—is a wonderful preservative of bodies. In the last two centuries about a hundred of these bodies have been found and many of them look as fresh as on the day they died.

Dr. Glob, who from his photographs is a shaggy young man in a rumpled raincoat, helped to uncover one of these peat-bog finds in May, 1950. He was teaching at the university when the police phoned to say that peat-cutters had discovered a body while working in Tollund Mose (bog) in Central Jutland. The cutters thought it might be connected with a recent, unsolved crime, and the police thought Dr. Glob might be interested.

It seems he went tearing off for Tollund Mose, which is a narrow peat-bog among high steep hills in a desolate region. And there, nearly seven feet down, he saw a human figure in a crouched position and still half-buried. A foot and shoulder, sticking out, were stained dark brown by the peat but in perfect condition.

The professor and the peat-cutters carefully removed the peat until they saw the man, resting on his side as if asleep. He'd been resting there for 2,000 years judging by the layers of peat above him. Air would have destroyed the body, so they covered it again in the gathering dusk. The section of bog in which it lay was cut free from the rest and placed in a wooden case to be sent to the National Museum in Copenhagen.

Some of the article is devoted to theories as to why the bodies had been placed in the peat-bogs (originally lakes and swamps). There's a reference to pollen analysis, the method of estimating the age of the bodies by microscopic analysis of the pollen found in the layers of peat above them.

Dr. Glob describes other finds as well, including the man found in 1946 at Borremose. And there's a photograph of the hand of a man found at Gravhale in May, 1952. The fingerprints, and even the moon on the little finger, are there. This was the hand the scientists fingerprinted. "Just like he was a living person," as my young friend remarked.

But the photograph that really registered with this thrill-loving young Canadian is the one of Tollund Man's face.

He lived 2,000 years ago, but the photo shows the wrinkles on his brow, the crowfeet by his eyes, the pores of his skin and the bristles of his beard. And shovels on the back of his head, is a little beanie cap made of eight pie-shaped pieces of skin with the fur inside.

It's a kind, serene face, weary and very patient. As well he might be, considering what modern scientists are doing to him. (They've even analyzed the contents of the stomach and found that he ate porridge and the kind of porridge that he ate!)

It's not the sort of reading that I usually do, but I'm sure it would help a skilful teacher make the eyes of her pupils pop with horror and delight. Here's Gravhale Man, for example. "He was naked and his throat had been cut!" Shades of Mickey Spillane!

Bush Pilot Saves 150 Passengers On Ontario Train
NORTH BAY, Ont. (BUP)—A bush pilot who halted a train with flares was credited today with saving some 150 passengers from possible death and injury after rain washed out a bridge.

The train halted four miles north of here on an embankment about 125 feet from Trout Lake. The washout, 75 feet long, would have sent train and passengers down the slope on to Highway 63 and into the lake, police said.

Railway officials said George Coleman, a bush pilot who operates a tourist camp on the lake, and two friends, Orville Quint and Peter Prested, placed a flare from his flying kit on the tracks just as the train neared a bend leading to the embankment.

Two large oil companies, Imperial and Shell, pleaded guilty in nearby Surrey recently to a charge of failing to collect the 10-cent tax on gasoline.

They were charged with selling the fuel to farmers as marked gasoline which is absorbed from the 10-cent tax.

Under the Gasoline Tax Act, vehicles not in use on a public highway such as tractors and logging trucks may use the marked gas and pay only one-cent a gallon tax.

Sentence against the companies was delayed until hearings against persons charged with buying the gasoline are completed.

CCF Endorses Compensation Act But Suggests 27 Amendments

The government's amendments to the Workmen's Compensation Act sailed through the legislature to approval in principle Wednesday night. Endorsement was given by voice vote without a dissenting murmur.

CCF leader Arnold Webster called it "enlightened legislation." He also praised Labor Minister Lyle Wicks as "one of the most earnest and hard-working members of the cabinet."

Though the CCF and the Liberals threw their support behind the act, which among other things increases pension and compensation payments, they gave notice they had certain objections.

The CCF proposes to submit 27 amendments and the Liberals have at least one.

The government amendments increase the compensation payments as of this year from 70 to 75 per cent of salary with the maximum wage allowable for compensation payments raised from $3,000 to $4,000.

Labor Minister Lyle Wicks made it plain that increases were not retroactive. "The act also increases pensions started before April, 1943."

Main CCF objection was the non-payment of increases in the intervening period between 1943 and 1954.

CCF opposition leader Arnold Webster and other CCF members also objected to an amendment by which the members of the compensation board hold office at the pleasure of the cabinet.

Mr. Webster said this would destroy the independence of the board and leave it open to political pleasure.

Mr. Webster said he looked forward to the day when compensation payments would be 100 per cent of the salary.

Opposition protest about excluding fishermen from the act's benefits brought from Labor Minister Wicks assurance the government is prepared to provide the solution if the fishermen could not work out details of coverage for themselves. Fishermen, he said, "must receive complete coverage."

Bruce Brown (Liberal, Prince Rupert) said simple changes in definitions of "workmen" and "employer" and addition of "commercial fisherman" would solve the compensation coverage problem of the fishermen.

Fair Riot Act Administration Up to Officials, Says Garson

OTTAWA (CP) — Justice Minister Garson says fair administration of the Riot Act must continue to rely on the common sense and responsibilities of public officials.

He made the statement Wednesday in the Commons in reply to CCF proposal that safeguards be placed around the reading of the Riot Act to suppress public disorders. The CCF said the Riot Act should not be used to break union strikes or provoke violence.

Mr. Garson said all abuses of the Riot Act in Canada have been the result of human failure. Officials dealing with the problem had not the judgment, backbone, courage or initiative to meet the emergency facing them.

No law could provide for those qualities and a person who read the act was protected only if he acted on reasonable and proper grounds and in good faith. If he acted otherwise, he lost legal protection for acts of violence or other illegal acts.

DEFECTS INEVITABLE
Defects in human judgment could not be cured by any provision in the law. If that were possible it would have been written into legislation years ago.

He said administration of the riot act is a difficult problem for public officials. They must take responsibility if they neglected to suppress riots. If they exceeded responsibilities in reading the act without reasonable grounds they also were responsible and could be charged with any illegal acts, such as assault.

The official involved was in a very unhappy position, but that was part of his job.

The House approved two government-sponsored amendments to sections in the revised Criminal Code dealing with unlawful assemblies and riots. The changes incorporate present Criminal Code provisions in the new law.

ALLOW 30 MINUTES
They allow 30 minutes for a crowd to disperse after the reading of the Riot Act and permit peace officers to use force only where there is resistance to the dispersal order.

Under the law persons who do not disperse after the Riot Act has been read or who forcibly try to prevent its reading are liable to a maximum penalty of life imprisonment.

The act can be read only by justices, mayors, sheriffs, deputy mayors and deputy sheriffs. Mr. Garson said he would not object to omitting deputy sheriffs from the list, but no action was taken on the CCF suggestion.

RCAF SHOTS COMPETE FOR QUEEN'S MEDAL

OTTAWA (CP) — The Queen has approved a medal to encourage small-arms shooting skill in the Commonwealth Air Force and Canadians will compete for it at nearby Connaught Ranges this summer.

BILLION FOR ROADS

WASHINGTON (UP) — The Senate passed a bill late Wednesday to boost federal aid for highway construction to $1,010,000,000 annually for the two fiscal years beginning July 1, 1955. Present highway budget is $652,500,000.

Extension of Unemployed Benefits Urged By Labor

OTTAWA (CP) — Canada's two largest labor organizations today urged the federal government to extend the time of supplementary unemployment insurance benefits.

Demand for Sewage Facilities Follows 3 New Polio Cases

VANCOUVER (UP) — New demands were heard today for proper sewage facilities in South Vancouver following the outbreak of three polio cases within a half-mile area of the district.

Two petitions have been launched asking that septic tanks in the area be replaced by a proper sewage system. The petitions were launched by George Lucas and Ray Oates. There are about 1,100 families in the district.

City medical health officer Dr. Stewart Murray confirmed the polio cases, and said two of them occurred within two days.

Support for action on the sewers was expressed by Ald. Birt Showler and Bill Orr.

to take care of winter unemployment, give workers a longer period to receive insurance payments than during the rest of the year. The expiry date is April 15.

During periods of seasonal unemployment, supplementary benefits are paid jobless persons who have used up their regular benefits. The period during which these additional payments are made varies in different areas of the country, depending upon the working season. The supplementary benefits cease when unseasonal conditions do.

The extension was urged in a joint statement by president Percy Bengough of the Trades and Labor Congress of Canada and secretary-treasurer Donald MacDonald of the Canadian Congress of Labor.

UNITED FOOTBALLERS AT HOME IN CUP MATCH

Victoria United, having gained the Vancouver Island zone championship, will meet Vancouver Dominion Hotel Saturday at Athletic Park in a third-round Province Cup soccer match.

Winner of the match advances into the semi-final against the winner of the Firefighters-North Shore match.

United gained the final by defeating three teams from the Victoria and District Football Association and Port Alberni, upper Island zone winners.

Dominion Hotel is a member of the Vancouver and District Football Association.

IT'S MY VIEW

By BILL WALKER, Sports Editor.

Here's another chapter on the life of Florence Chadwick, the amazing young woman who will attempt to swim the Strait of Juan de Fuca this summer.

The determination that has made Florence such an outstanding figure in the world of sports, actually is an outgrowth of a childhood ambition accentuated by a number of frustrating experiences.

Flo recognized water as wet around San Diego where she grew up as a child. Children in that area gravitate to the beach just as kids in Canada look for a pair of ice skates on their first birthday.

She was swimming in recognized meets when she was six years of age and at 10 won her first trophy.

This wasn't any club meet the length of the pool but a two-and-one-half-mile rough water marathon at Hermosa Beach in which she placed fourth.

Myron Cox, a lifeguard at the time and who later was to teach her the tricks of the Catalina channel currents and riptides, remembers her as a plucky youngster who didn't know when to quit.

Cox is said to have told her then:

"Kid, some day you'll be a great swimmer."

For a time it appeared that Flo was destined to become a child prodigy. At age 13, she placed second to Eleanor Holm (Jarrett) in the national AAU backstroke. Apparently not designed for short events, the best Flo could do in any national meet after that was third.

She Was Winning, But Few Cared

She was good enough to win several long-distance rough-water swims against men, but few observers paid any attention.

She just wasn't the type who combined beauty with a national or an Olympic title or who could make the prowess pay off in Hollywood. The cameras didn't focus on her as they did on Vicki Draves or Esther Williams.

It was about then that the one big ambition within Florence became an obsession. She decided that the only way to gain recognition would be to swim the English Channel. After two years at college and a short-lived marriage which didn't work out, Florence found herself in 1937 still a long way from Dover. And this was some six years later.

She then took a position teaching overweight matrons how to move forward while staying afloat, saving her money, and in 1948 secured a job with an oil company in Saudi Arabia. Her plan was to train in the Persian Gulf while working, and trust that she could eventually get to England.

Barracudas Helped Her Timing

Confined to training in a pool for a while, she got a break when she was transferred by the company to a village near the Persian Gulf. For the next year, she dove 12 miles to the gulf every day, swam hundreds of miles and raced the odd shark and barracuda to shore in the relentless pursuit of her ambition. When her contract with the oil firm expired, Flo chartered a plane and flew to Paris.

Attempts to discourage her were made by an American Consulate official in Paris as everyone there was interested in another U.S. swimmer, Shirley May France, who was almost ready to shove off for Bighty.

Flo's entry in the Daily Mail marathon was rejected with the curt reply: "Sorry, but some of the world's greatest swimmers are in this event. We do not feel that you are qualified."

Regardless, Flo made her own plans and took off in the dark from Cape Griz Nez 10 minutes after Shirley May. With the light of dawn she climbed on bleeding feet up the coral coast of Dover. Shirley May had been forced to give up when six miles from shore.

Vic High Footballers Keep Title Hopes Alive

Defending champion Victoria High School is making a determined bid to retain the inter-high senior soccer championship this season. And whether the club is successful or not will probably be known Monday.

Thursday the defending champions broke loose for their second-half goals to blank Oak Bay, 3-0. Loss for Bays was the second in the post-season round-robin series between the clubs. Mount View edging Bays, 2-1, Monday.

Victoria High is now scheduled to meet Mount View at Central Park Monday with the winner taking the league title and Colistat Cup.

Hustling Chummy Crabbe scored the winners' first goal 10 minutes into the second half when he intercepted an intended pass-back and beat goalie Don Gillam with a ground shot to the corner.

Shortly afterwards, centre forward Bill Abbott notched the first of two goals by heading the ball past Gillam to up the margin to 2-0. Abbott concluded scoring on a play with Crabbe.

Bays missed two good scoring chances in the early minutes of the game, centre forward Bill Gosling shooting wide after breaking in alone and outside right Phil Willis just failing to deflect a goalmouth pass into the net.

Williams Recovering

NEWTON, Mass. (BUP) —

General Manager Joe Cronin of the Boston Red Sox has been assured that slugger Ted Williams' fractured left collarbone soon will be as good as new.

Cronin learned in a telephone conversation with Dr. Herbert Virgin of Miami, Fla., that X-ray photographs showed satisfactory healing of the fracture.

Kins' Wish Comes True, Title Series Available

The way is now officially open for Wally Yeaman's Vic-Van Isle Kins to get their wish and contest the Canadian senior women's basketball championship—if they still want to.

Wednesday night in Vancouver, Gordie McDonald's Vancouver Eilers polished off Calgary Wittichens' 48-44, to win the best-of-five Canadian championship series in three straight games. Eilers won the previous games by 52-48 and 60-47 scores.

As a result of Kins defeating Eilers earlier in the B.C. finals but being unable to enter the Canadian final because they did not post a bond, a post-season challenge series has been arranged between Eilers and Kins.

At Kins' request, with the Canadian title at stake, Eilers, although they did not win the B.C. title, went on to win the Dominion crown because they were able to post the necessary bond covering traveling expenses for the Calgary club.

Officials of the Kins' club, who earlier stated they would play the post-season series, will meet tonight to vote again on the issue.

The best-of-three series is to be played in Vancouver April 23, 24 and 26, with Kins playing all their own traveling expenses unless a third game is necessary, in which case Kins would receive $50 expenses.

Wednesday's game was a hard-won victory for Eilers as Calgary gambled everything to avoid elimination.

Not until the last quarter were Eilers able to solve the tight zone defense and double bucket offense employed for the

Come to Terry, You Rascal

Instrumental in Detroit Red Wings' late-season schedule and Stanley Cup success to date has been goalie Terry Sawchuk. In contrast to last year, when Wings bowed out of Stanley Cup play in the semifinals after winning league titles, Sawchuk has been sensational in final league and playoff games this season. He barely missed winning the Vezina Trophy, Toronto Maple Leafs' Harry Lumley capturing the bauble by a single-goal margin. Wings defeated Toronto in Stanley Cup semifinals and are currently tied at one game apiece with Montreal Canadiens in the finals. Here, Sawchuk goes down to stop one of several shots he has been called upon to save.

Mrs. Babson Cares Less As Bob Dwyer Defeated

By BILL WALKER

Empress golfers don't care how they do it as long as they make news.

No sooner had Mrs. J. C. Babson of Portland heard of the men hogging all the glory at Colwood than did she do something about it.

And her feat would make news anywhere.

For Mrs. Babson aced her tee shot on the ninth hole at Victoria Club while playing in a second-flight match with Mrs. L. E. Bell. It was Mrs. Babson's first hole-in-one in eight years of golf and stole some of the fanfare from the defeat of men's co-medalist Bob Dwyer of Portland.

However, Dwyer's loss wasn't too serious from an international aspect as it was fellow townsman Pross Clark of Portland who turned the trick at the 19th hole.

The golfing Adells from Seattle had their dreams for an Empress double shattered when Mrs. D. D. Meares of Victoria

2 and 1, in the ladies' championship.

Husband Earl kept the family banner flying as he romped to a 6 and 5 triumph over Dr. R. Hill of Longview, Wash.

Men's co-medalist H. Anderson of Tacoma defeated Dr. W. Fowler of Vancouver, 3 and 2, while in the upset category, former finalist Dr. Larry Schueier gave away 10 strokes and an eventual 4 and 2 verdict to Victoria's Gord Goodwin.

Other Victorian remaining in the men's championship following Wednesday's play was Gordie Greenwood who eliminated S. Selak of Seattle, 2 and 1.

A Rawlinson of Portland was put through the jumps before he got past Dick Darcus of Victoria. It took a pair of birdies on the 18th and 19th for Rawlinson to beat down his opponent.

G. Cook trimmed R. Fraser, 3 and 2, in an all-Seattle match to qualify for the eighth along with Dick Mitchell of Vancouver who trimmed Ernie Keith of Seattle by the surprising count of 6 and 5.

A showdown loomed today in the ladies' section as medalist Mrs. J. C. Edwards was matched against 1953 champion, Mrs. G. Greene of Seattle. Mrs. Edwards, Wednesday, scored a 3 and 2 triumph over Portland's Mrs. J. O. Stendal, while Mrs. Greene eliminated Mrs. R. B. McCourt, also of Seattle, 4 and 3.

Victorians in all gained five of the ladies' quarter-final berths. In addition to Mrs. Edwards and Mrs. Mearns, Mrs. Harold Husband, Mrs. J. D. Munro and Mrs. R. W. Strand advanced.

Mrs. R. W. Thorpe of Seattle, who defeated Portland's Mrs. P. Spencer, 2 and 1, and Mrs. P. Window of Port Angeles, who eliminated Mrs. H. W. Berni of Portland, 4 and 2, provided the United States' threat along with Mrs. Greene.

That task is to stop Ben Hogan, the tense Texas scrapper who won everything in sight last year, including his second Masters.

Among those in the field are Jackie Burke, Cary Middlecott, Sammy Snead, Jimmy Demaret, Ed (Porky) Oliver and Byron Nelson.

NEEDS FIVE POINTS

Moore Near Third NHL Cup Record

MONTREAL (CP) — Dickie Moore, Montreal Canadiens' brash 23-year-old leftwinger, is within shooting distance of another Stanley Cup playoff record, total points in the series.

Moore set two records March 25 in a semi-final cup series game between Canadiens and Boston Bruins. His first mark, a goal in 10 seconds of play, was wiped out April 1 by Gordie Howe of Detroit Red Wings, who flipped in a goal in nine seconds in a semi-final game between the Wings and Toronto Maple Leafs.

Moore's second record, March 25, was on total points for a single game. "He scored two goals and had four assists. The six points eclipsed a long-standing record of five, shared by four players. Now Moore has run up 13 points, five goals and eight assists, in four semi-final games with Boston and the two so far played against Detroit. The record is 18.

Dickie has at least three more games in the current best-of-seven final.

The game, at Lake Hill gym, will start at 8.

McMorran's won the first game of the series Monday night by a 41-34 score and will carry a seven-point lead into tonight's game.

B.C. Lions Acquire Berry, Lord In Player Trade With Edmonton

VANCOUVER (CP) — British Columbia Lions announced today that they have completed a two-for-one football player trade with Edmonton Eskimos.

Western all-star Ray Wilsey for Eskimos' Lindy Berry and Don Lord.

Voted the Western Interprovincial Football Union's most valuable player in 1950, quarter-back Berry was pivot of the deal.

A 25-year-old, five-foot-ten, 180-pounder, the speedy, slick-passing Berry gets his release from a two-year hitch in the U.S. Navy in June. He was with Eskimos in 1951.

Signed by Lions before their entry in the league this season became official, Wilsey was "loaned" to Edmonton for seasoning.

He completed the 1953 campaign in Eskimo livery, and was selected a WIFU defensive all-star back after setting pair of pass-interception records.

NHL Officials Scored In 'Sour-Gripe' Series

MONTREAL (CP) — The penalty-and-power-play series, probably one of the annals, opens its Montreal stand tonight with no let-up in off-stage squawks about the refereeing.

It's small wonder that the officials, instead of some unfortunate players, have been made the goats so far in this tight tussle between the cup-defending Montreal Canadiens and the Detroit Red Wings.

In the two games in Detroit, each settled by a 3-1 score, first in favor of the Wings and then Canadiens, not one of the total eight goals was scored while 12 players were on the ice. The Red Wings counted one goal when one of their own men was in the penalty box.

With penalties playing such an important part, the roars and howls have been made to come. Coach Dick Irvin sounded off first. His team lost the Sunday game, handed by referee Bill Chadwick.

The outraged Montreal coach proclaimed that "it's strange opposing teams get penalties until the Red Wings are in front."

Irvin followed that with some succinct comment about "evening things up."

The two games produced 25 penalties, 14 against Canadiens and 11 against the Red Wings. Canadiens had eight in the first game to Detroit's seven; six in the second game to Detroit's four, but two of the Detroit penalties overlapped and Canadiens quickly whipped in two of their three goals.

Now that the best-of-seven series has moved to Montreal for games tonight and Saturday, the Red Wings must try to win on foreign ice, as Canadiens did in Detroit. Home ice has been good to Canadiens this season. In seven NHL meetings between the two clubs, Canadiens won six and Detroit one. In Detroit, the Montrealers had two ties and suffered five losses. Their win at Olympia Stadium Tuesday night was their first on Detroit ice since the middle of January, 1953.

Wings File Official Complaint

Detroit's loss Tuesday night, when referee Red Storey handled the game, brought a blast from general manager Jack Adams to the effect that Storey was never any good and as a Montreal man would of course favor Canadiens.

To cap this, Bruce Norris, co-owner of the Red Wings, announced he would file a letter of protest over the officiating, the protest directed to president Clarence Campbell of the National Hockey League.

BALTIMORE DECLINES TO LIFT RACIAL BAN

BALTIMORE (AP) — Baltimore hotel operators met with Governor Theodore McKeldin of Maryland and his commission on racial problems Wednesday but refused to lift their restrictions against Negro guests.

They refused to even make exception for Negro members of Baltimore's new American League baseball team and for Negroes on visiting teams which will start coming here when the season opens next week.

McKeldin pointed out that Baltimore's position as the only place in the league holding fast to segregation in hotels will bring the city and state "a lot of unfavorable publicity."

MCC'S COMEBACK WORTHY OF NOTE

By TONY BRISTOWE

By winning the last Test of the present series by a decisive margin of 9 wickets, the MCC touring side has emerged with even honours from the West Indies, each side having won two matches, the odd game having been drawn.

This comeback of the MCC side is a highly creditable result for any touring team that can lose the first two matches and subsequently fight its way back to an even score has at least proved its gameness.

It is all too easy for the fireside critic to sit back and fulminate when he sees his favorites performing abysmally. And that is indeed what most have done during this winter tour. For the English start was disastrous. Poor batting, erratic bowling and a general lack of teamwork were evident. One should, however, make due allowance for two things: First, that extreme heat and madding wickets are entirely foreign to English batsmen; and, second, that this was, to a large extent, a comparatively young and inexperienced side.

That they fought back the way they did is credit to their credit and speaks volumes for the leadership and fine example of the captain, Len Hutton.

Proof of World Greatness

His record in this series is indeed magnificent. He played 8 innings, was once not out, for an aggregate of 677 runs and an average of 84.6. His highest score was 205 and 163, and this clearly supports the theory that he is still one of the greatest batsmen in the world today. That he should achieve this fine result despite the burdens of captainship, makes it all the more remarkable.

Certain other interesting things emerged from this series. Trevor Bailey had a successful tour. He has now gained the ranks of those batsmen who have risen by sheer hard work from a position of comparative insignificance in the batting order to the august heights of England's opening batsman. One is reminded of the immortal Wilfrid Rhodes, who rose to opener from No. 11 in the order.

Bailey's record shows that he scored 193 runs, twice not out, for an average of 38.6. He also took 7 for 34 in the first innings of the last Test, and is the only English all-rounder of Test class today.

Brian Statham emerged as the most consistent of the battery of fast bowlers, having taken 15 wickets for 29.8 runs each before injuring himself in the fourth Test. Of the slow bowlers, Lock, the young left-hander, was the most successful, taking 11 wickets at the very high cost of 68.5 runs per wicket. Brian Laker's off-spinners brought him 8 wickets at the same cost, but these wickets were taken at times of great need.

There Were Disappointments, Too

Much interest was focussed on the form of Denis Compton. After a shaky start, he made scores of 133, 93 and 64, and his 7 innings gave him an average of a shade under 50.

Willy Watson enhanced his reputation with a century in the first Test, but from then onwards could only give of his best in the secondary matches. In these he was outstanding, and before the fourth Test he had hit 4 centuries in first class games, including 141 against Trinidad and 257 against British Guiana. This, with Tom Graveney's 231, gave these two a record score of 402, the highest set up by an MCC touring side for any wicket.

And what of the West Indies? Undoubtedly the disarming of King, the fast bowler, had a great effect on the result of the last Test. However, far more significant was the comparative failure of Valentine, the left-hander, who had been, with Ramadhin, the scourge of English batsmen in 1951. By contrast, Ramadhin emerged with increased stature, and was by far the most successful bowler on either side, his leg-breaks accounting for 26 wickets at a cost of 25.5 runs each, a really magnificent performance.

As for the batting, it was interesting to see a newcomer, J. K. Holt, challenge the supremacy of the three "Ws". Their respective figures make astonishing reading.

Innings	Not Out	Runs	Age	By comparison, the leading English
Watson	10	3	644	92.0 figures were
Graveney	9	1	487	84.6
Lock	8	1	432	54.0
Watson	8	8	324	41.8
Compton	7	9	348	49.9

On these results, May will certainly have ensured himself a place in next winter's side to tour Australia, as will Statham and Bailey. The rest of the picture is rather obscure. Next summer, with Pakistan touring England, will be a relaxation from sterner things, and the selectors will have time to give an extended trial to the more doubtful aspirants.

Pentiction Pares Leafs' Lead

Nelson Maple Leafs, who had a firm grip on the Savage Cup, emblematic of amateur hockey supremacy in B.C., felt their hold slip a little Wednesday night as Pentiction V's cut them down 3-1 on neutral ice in Trail's Cominco arena.

Nelson now leads the best-of-seven Western Canada Allan Cup semifinal 2-1 with one game tied. Next game is scheduled in Nelson Friday night.

Grant Warwick scored a goal and assisted on two while George McAvoy and Dick Warwick scored the others. Bill Haldane tallied Nelson's only goal.

Pentiction played without the services of Bill Warwick, suspended after attack on a referee in Trail Monday.

Rainiers, Beavers Win Again

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Seattle and Portland racked up victories Wednesday night and remained the only undefeated clubs in the Pacific Coast League.

Seattle made it two in a row over San Francisco, 6-2, as Gene Bearden, former American League pitcher, bore down in the clutch and worked out of difficulties. Bearden and Tom Lowrich, who succeeded him in the eighth, and Pete Hernandez were touched for 11 hits by the Seals, one more than Seattle got. Frank Hiller, Bill Bradford and Ted Shandor shared mound duties for the Seals.

Hollywood, pennant winner the last two years, lost its second straight to Portland, 3-1, as the Ports put across two runs in the ninth after two were out.

George Lerchen's daring base running was responsible for the victory. He streaked home from second as Frankie Austin hit a smash to short. When George Wopneke's throw to second was late in an effort to get Joe Rossi, Lerchen beat second baseman Monte Basgall's relay, which he delayed for an instant awaiting the umpire's decision. ### Cockell May Again Fight In Seattle

SEATTLE (AP)—Manager Jack Hurley said Wednesday his offer of $28,000 (10,000 pounds) for a return fight between Don Cockell of London and his own heavyweight, Harry "Kid" Matthews, still stands.

Promoter Jack Salmon said earlier in London the British tax on fight admissions had killed hopes of a scrap there this summer between World Champion Rocky Marciano and Cockell, the British Empire titlist. Presumably, this also would block any effort to stage a Cockell-Matthews fight in London.

"I have agreed to the terms asked by John Smipson, Cockell's manager, for a return fight here," Hurley said.

Pro Golfers Fined For Unethical Display

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

AUGUSTA, Ga. (AP)—The tournament committee of the Professional Golfers Association Wednesday fined three prominent golfers and put them on six months' probation as the aftermath of a "rhubarb" in the Greensboro Open tournament last week-end.

Marty Furgol of Lemont, Ill., was fined $250 and put on probation for six months. Doug Ford of Yonkers, N.Y., who beat Furgol in a play-off for first place in the tournament, and Bill Nary of Tucson, Ariz., were fined $50 each.

This almost unprecedented public chastisement of prominent touring pros resulted from a dispute between Nary and Ford. Nary claimed that Ford had stepped on a bush to hold it out of the way while he was making a shot and he refused to sign Ford's card. Furgol then got into the dispute which almost led to blows.

Classics Rub Elbows With Cowboy Songs At Topnotch Concert By BCE Singers

By AUDREY ST. D. JOHNSON
A fine example of variety entertainment was provided Wednesday night, through the agency of the Metropolitan United Church.

The B.C. Electric Male Glee Club from Vancouver, with guest artists, presented a program which was both varied and interesting, songs ranging from the classical beauty of Sibelius and Grieg to fascinating and unusual Maori songs of New Zealand and three cowboy songs from Australia.

These latter were sung by Harry Mossfield, who has an unusually fine baritone, resonant, flexible and of considerable power. His delighted audience was insistent in its recalls.

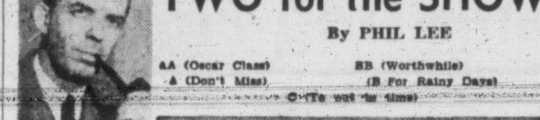

Betty Phillips, one of Vancouver's well-known radio personalities, displayed her clear, full soprano in several songs, notably "Villia" from "The Merry Widow" and two Grieg numbers. She also joined Mr. Mossfield in two pleasing duets. The singers were brilliantly accompanied by Pearl Kerr at the piano.

LOVELY EFFECT
A most unique item was the performance of a 100-year-old hand bells, of several familiar numbers. John Gillingham, Tom Myers, Larry Powett and Bob Middleton of the Salvation Army Temple Band, showed the lovely effect that can be obtained when these bells are well played.

Accordianist Leo Aquino of Vancouver is a true virtuoso of his instrument and proved extremely popular with his audience, especially with his "Flight of the Bumble Bee" and "Dance of the Comedians."

TWO for the SHOW

By PHIL LEE

(A) "THE BEGGAR'S OPERA" (Dominion): This lyrical drama by English poet John Gay (1685-1732) is a lusty, bawdy, colorful film that was superbly produced in England for Warner's and stars the great English actor, Sir Laurence Olivier ("Henry V." "Hamlet") in the unusual role of singer.

What is even more amazing Sir Laurence has a fine voice, a light baritone. And although at times it sounds a trifle too thin for the competition this is forgotten in the man's magnificent acting. Also worthy of high praise are Stanley Holloway as Lockit; Dorothy Tutin as Polly Peachum; Hugh Griffith, the beggar; George Devine, Peachum; Athlene Seyler and Daphne Anderson.

But the magic of the film is its color, its recreation of old English street and inn scenes, all photographed under the supervision of Guy Green. Music was arranged and composed by Sir Arthur Bliss.

To Director Peter Brook begets the credit of keeping Gay's operetta in hand and bringing forth the delightful spoofing of Gay's own times. For this was, if historians are correct, a satire on society, the showing up of corruption in high places. It was also a caricature of Sir Robert Walpole and it was said that "The Beggar's Opera" made the rich gay and gay rich.

The plot in brief: Captain Macheath (Olivier), dashing highwayman, is in Lon-

Ceiling Removed On Imports Granted Returning Troops

OTTAWA (CP)—Canadian servicemen, posted abroad for a year or more, will be allowed to bring back as many goods as they wish without paying duty. Finance Minister Abbott Tuesday night lifted the $1,000 ceiling on duty-free imports by servicemen, granting them the same privileges extended for many years to other employees of the Canadian government serving abroad.

Mr. Abbott also has decided to write into the tariff structure the free entry of $25 in gifts sent by Canadian armed forces abroad to their friends and relatives in Canada.

This exemption was provided by order-in-council in December, 1951, but now is embodied in the tariff structure for the first time.

Mother Nature Tops In Awsome Force

By JOSEPH L. MYLER

WASHINGTON (UP)—The H-bomb is tough and can punch, but nature is still the champ, some experts said today.

Capt. Elliott B. Roberts said there are "forces at play in the earth all the time" that make the H-bomb seem sickly by comparison.

Suppose they do make an H-bomb 1,000 times more powerful than the nominal A-bomb. "Even a moderate earthquake," Roberts said, "yields 1,000,000 times more energy than an A-bomb."

So Roberts doubts H-bombs will set off disastrous earthquakes or tidal waves or volcanic eruptions. Not energetic enough.

Dr. Harry Wexler, weather bureau scientist, has similar doubts about an H-bomb's ability to start or stop hurricanes.

A 20-megaton H-bomb, one comparable in explosive force to 20,000,000 tons of TNT, releases enough energy to keep an ordinary hurricane going just 25 seconds, Wexler estimated.

But hurricanes last several days to a week or longer.

And as Dr. Otto R. Frisch said in London recently, "there is one thing no bomb can do—it cannot produce more energy than it contained."

Gordon Dean, former chairman of the Atomic Energy Commission, is authority for the statement that there is a limit to the H-bomb's power of destruction.

Mink Farmers To Hear Seven B.C. Experts

A one-day short course for Vancouver Island mink breeders will be held at Loughheed's Banquet Hall on Sunday starting at 9:30 a.m.

The meeting is sponsored by the provincial livestock branch and the department of animal husbandry and extension of the University of British Columbia. The course will include seven lectures by experts in animal husbandry.

Speakers will be Dr. F. F. McKenzie, Oregon State College; Dr. B. A. Eagles, Dr. V. C. Brink, Dr. A. J. Wood, Dr. W. Kitts, all of the University of British Columbia, and Dr. J. C. Bankier and Dr. A. Kidd, provincial department of agriculture.

As you make it bigger and bigger a time comes when the tamper effect of the atmosphere on all sides is greater than that of the thinner blanket of air overhead.

So when that times comes, the souped-up H-bomb vents its excess energy straight up, and is lost in space. A nuclear physicist here estimated the blowout point at somewhere between 50 and 100 megatons.

So it looks as though the H-bomb would reach its limit of destruction long before it ever got big enough to blow up a continent, or even match a big earthquake in power.

Dr. Harry Wexler, weather bureau scientist, has similar doubts about an H-bomb's ability to start or stop hurricanes.

A 20-megaton H-bomb, one comparable in explosive force to 20,000,000 tons of TNT, releases enough energy to keep an ordinary hurricane going just 25 seconds, Wexler estimated.

But hurricanes last several days to a week or longer.

And as Dr. Otto R. Frisch said in London recently, "there is one thing no bomb can do—it cannot produce more energy than it contained."

Gordon Dean, former chairman of the Atomic Energy Commission, is authority for the statement that there is a limit to the H-bomb's power of destruction.

Dr. Harry Wexler, weather bureau scientist, has similar doubts about an H-bomb's ability to start or stop hurricanes.

I'm Not A Worry-Part But... I certainly had my worrying-cap on the other night. We were over at Marg and Bill's place when it had forgotten to close the bedroom window before leaving home. My evening from then on was ruined. Everything was there when we got back, but right then and there I decided to collect all our valuables and important documents and put them into a BANK OF MONTREAL Safety Deposit Box. Next day I made good my resolution. I packed up all those irreplaceables and hid myself off to the B of M. There, for less than the cost of our daily newspaper, I rented a Safety Deposit Box. Think of it, for only two cents a day I bought peace of mind. If you have valuable papers or jewellery lying around the house, my advice to you is to place them in a Safety Deposit Box at "MY BANK" today!

B.C. May Get Hansard-Like House Report

The provincial government will give consideration to setting up a system of verbatim reporting in the Legislature, Premier Bennett said Wednesday.

He made his statement following a resolution moved by Vincent Segur (CCF, Revelstoke) which was unanimously supported by the House.

Mr. Bennett said the government was "happy to accept" the resolution and that some system of verbatim reporting had been under consideration since the Secords took office.

He added a rider, however, that it might not be feasible to institute the system in B.C. because the power and spirit of debate might be lost.

In Ottawa recently, the premier said he had noticed "only a handful" of members in the House and said this took place because members could check Hansard next day.

In Ontario where there is a summary of debates, Mr. Bennett said the feeling was high-lights of speeches were left out.

NO STUDY PLANNED ON CIVIL RIGHTS

Liberals Join Secord Bonner in Opposing CCF Resolution; USSR Held Up As Example

The CCF failed in a bid to have the provincial government study the possibility of drawing up an act to protect civil rights as the House started debate on resolutions Wednesday.

Liberal leader Arthur Laing joined with Attorney-General Robert Bonner in opposing the indefinitely worded resolution, which would have the Legislature "recommend to the consideration of the government the advisability of introducing" the act.

Help on New Municipality Code Sought

The provincial government will work in close cooperation with municipalities in rewriting B.C.'s municipal code, Municipal Affairs Minister Wesley Black said Wednesday.

Mr. Black said the province "can't do this job itself, and intends to work in close conjunction with municipalities."

His statement came as the Legislature turned down a CCF resolution calling for an immediate provincial-municipal conference to consider relations between the two forms of government and jurisdictions of both.

Mr. Black said the sum of $8,000 had been set aside in the estimates for beginning an investigation into rewriting the act, a job which is expected to take the better part of two years to complete.

Liberal Bruce Brown of Prince Rupert said his party could see no advantage to calling such a conference at this time.

William Moore (CCF, Comox) said the need for a provincial-municipal conference was "never greater than right now." He said municipalities were suffering ailments today which would be cured by changes in the Municipal Act at a future date.

SASKATOON (CP)—A high degree of "natural" radioactivity has been disclosed in experiments with fresh-fallen snow at the University of Saskatchewan here.

Dr. Kitz said natural radioactivity is present at all times in the atmosphere, having emanated from the earth's crust.

BETWEEN TIMES

By MONTE ROBERTS

Dear Donnie Reid:
I guess it is about time I wrote to tell you how Judy and I feel about you. After all, you were the first person enough to introduce her into our house, so we should give you a report now and then.
When you last saw Judy Boots (J.B. for short) she wasn't much bigger than a minute, and she was colored about like a mole who had been working in a coal mine. Also, she had a silver streak at the back of her neck.
Well, since then she has changed color several times, and now looks more like a mole who has been bleached somewhat in the sun.
She isn't, by any means, the most beautiful small doggie who ever lived, but we think she's by far the cutest and most intelligent.
I guess all people who are owned by dogs feel that way about them.
J.B. has yet to produce her first written prose, but she is learning the newspaper business very quickly.
She comes with me to the office every morning, and performs her duties very well.
Her first job is to go on an inspection tour, and make sure all the equipment is in place, and that everyone has reported for work.
She starts at the switchboard-reception desk, and woofs at Gladys, to see if she is awake.
Then J.B. trots into the publisher's office, and checks the rug, to see if it is clean. (At least, that's what I hope she does to the rug).
Then she continues her rounds; the editorial writers' offices, the society department, the sports department.
J.B.'s next job is to visit the desk of each reporter, and make sure he is chained firmly in his chair, ready to go to work.
By this time, the city editor has turned up, and seated himself behind his desk.
The city editor has long legs, which he stretches out under his desk.
J.B. spends a few minutes sniffing the city editor's shoes.
Then she bites him gently on the ankle.
This makes the city editor emit a loud bellow, which is the signal for all the reporters to start working like mad. And thus having officially opened our working day, J.B. curls up under my desk and goes to sleep.
Then J.B.'s friend, Red, comes up from the composing room, shakes hands with her and gives her a biscuit.
As you can see, J.B. is the executive type.
I'll write again in a week or so, Donnie. Or perhaps by then J.B. will have learned to type, and if so, I'm sure she will write you.
Your friend,
MONTE.

FUN WITH FIGURES

By J. A. HUNTER

It is perhaps three thousand years since some unknown genius hit on the golden rule for what are still looked upon as ideal proportions in design. He enunciated the law that, in the perfect rectangle, the ratio of the shorter to the longer side must be the same as the ratio of the longer to the sum of the two sides: this means that the longer side should be about two-thirds again as long as the shorter. In the case of a rectangular-sides box, room or even building, the same rule applies: the longest dimension, whether it be length, breadth or height, should be about two-thirds again as long as the intermediate dimension; and that intermediate dimension should be about two-thirds again as long as the shortest dimension. At a much later date, only a few hundred years ago, Fibonacci evolved his famous series of numbers, each being the sum of the previous two: 1, 1, 2, 3, 5, 8, and so on; any three consecutive numbers in this series will give the approximately ideal proportions for a box-shaped object, the further along the series the better being the approximation. As an example, it may be interesting to figure out the "ideal" dimensions for a rectangular-sides block of stone the volume of which will be 2,184 cubic inches, each side being an exact number of inches.

Wednesday's answer: Simon bought 3-cent, 7-cent and 15-cent stamps.

New Shopping Centre Visualized

This is artist's conception of new shopping centre proposed for Victoria by Seattle concern, Buford Development Incorporated. Walled area on roof is intended as outdoor restaurant. Cowboy hat and boot at right is proposed design for gas station and restrooms. Western theme will be carried throughout exterior design.

U.S.-Type Store Centre Planned In Downtown

58 Shops in $1.5 Million Plan

A unique shopping centre, containing 58 shops under one roof, is proposed for the northern fringe of Victoria's downtown area by a U.S. retail concern.

Buford Development Incorporated, Seattle, has purchased or acquired options on most of the property contained in the two city blocks bounded by Douglas, Queens, Government and Pembroke.

The firm intends to establish a sprawling, one-story structure that will encompass 58 different retail outlets. Adequate parking facilities also are planned.

The idea is to put small, independent merchants on a competitive basis with department stores, through centralization and an over-all management plan.

The suggested development would cost in excess of $1,500,000.

EARLY-DAY FORT
The tentative plan is to make the building appear outwardly like an early-day fort. Suggested name is "Buford's Trading Post."

Buford Development Incorporated intends to build 14 such shopping centres across Canada, costing altogether in excess of $30,000,000.

Head man of Buford Development Incorporated is Buford V. Seals, Jr., who branched out in a big way in retail field after World War Two, setting up a surplus store in a tent outside Seattle. That venture was known as "The Three GIs."

VICTORIA BACKER
James M. Patterson, 38, a retired businessman from Toronto, now living near Victoria, has been named as the chief backer of the plan. Alf A. Duplain, president of Vernon Martin & Co. Ltd., has handled the real estate negotiations.

Mr. Duplain estimated that a start could be made on the project within 90 days. Some of the options taken on the land are for that length of time.

He said the next step was acquisition of the property; then clearing; then building. Working drawings have not yet been prepared, but will be made in the U.S. and then returned over to a local architect for consideration and revision, he said.

BLOCK FOR CARS
The building presently contemplated would cover an area 408 feet long by 120 feet. It would front Government Street, between Pembroke and Princess. The block between Princess and Queens mostly would be parking area.

It has been suggested the store could be ready before next winter.

The interior layout would be similar to a department store but each department would be contained in its own four walls and would be independently operated.

Shoppers would be provided with carry-carts for shopping "store-to-store."

Only section of the shopping centre not to be leased privately will be the groceries, which will be operated by the firm of management.

STORES LISTED
It is anticipated stores in the building would consist of a restaurant, newsstand, fruit and vegetable store, ladies' apparel shop, women's sports store, barber shop, pet shop, copper shop, shoe store, sporting goods store, hardware store, shoe repair shop, hot-dog stand, hamburger stand, crystal shop, children's shop, record shop, fish and chip shop, ice cream parlor, chinaware shop, tie shop, costume jewellery store, candy shop, dime store, gift shop, fish market, meat market, bedding and linen shop, florist, delicatessen, fruit store and bakery.

The independent merchants will pay rent on a percentage of sales basis. Rent will include light, water, heat, advertising, janitor work, night watchman service and parking facilities.

The general administration will keep a day-to-day tab on the sale of each section, and will regulate its advertising accordingly.

MUD SAVES TOT RUN OVER BY DAD'S TRACTOR

A Saanich farmer drove his tractor over the body of his three-year-old daughter today, the tread leaving marks on her tiny coat — and she escaped apparently unhurt.

Cheryl Robinson, West Saanich Road, fell from the front of her father's tractor where she had been riding. Before her father, Henry Robinson, could halt the machine, the heavy machine had passed over her.

The little girl had fallen face down into soft mud, and that is what must have saved her, police said.

Rushed to Royal Jubilee Hospital, she was examined in emergency. "Not a mark on her," said amazed hospital authorities.

But Cheryl is undergoing complete X-rays before being released.

Charity Show Racket Hit By New Tax

A new amusement tax bill to discourage fly-by-night talent promoters and cut the basic tax from 17½ per cent to 15 per cent has been given first reading in the Legislature.

Under the bill, performances staged by charitable, religious and non-profit organizations will have to charge the full 15 per cent tax. But two-thirds of the collected tax will be refunded on application.

This section is aimed at halting the practice of having non-profit organization "front" for promoters, who work on a set guarantee or percentage, and evade amusement tax payment.

The bill is also aimed at halting Sunday operation of open-air theatres without amusement tax collections. When silver collection is made on Sundays, the government will post an inspector to ensure the government 10 cents on each admission.

The cabinet will rule on whether organizations are professional or amateur for purposes of tax collection. Admission to grounds of industrial and agricultural fairs will continue to be exempt.

Finance department officials say strict taxation collection methods are not expected to add more than a few thousand dollars to government coffers, through provisions which allow bona-fide charitable or religious organizations total exemption, on application, on all proceeds over 10 per cent which go to charity.

Special rulings will be made in cases where circumstances permit to allow total exemption from tax payment in collection of admissions. These special cases... including certain patriotic, religious and charitable functions... will be ruled by the cabinet. Fourteen days advance application must be made.

Charge Withdrawn in Fatal City Accident

Volunteer Driver for Blind Says Will Loan Car But Won't Drive

Charge of dangerous driving against a 77-year-old volunteer driver for the blind arising from a fatal accident March 3 at Cook and Pembroke was withdrawn in Assize Court today.

Ernest Hawker, 941 Foul Bay Road, first charged with manslaughter, which was reduced to dangerous driving after a preliminary hearing, was freed by a stay-of-proceedings granted through the attorney-general's department.

Hawker was scheduled to go on trial this morning when Crown Prosecutor A. de B. McPhillips announced before Mr. Justice Norman Whitaker that the stay-of-proceedings had been granted.

The retired railroad engineer, who was driving a group of sightless people to a meeting of the White Canoe Club when his car was involved in a crash resulting in the death of Charles H. Rowles, 85, told reporters after the announcement that he will continue to lend his car to assist the blind.

"But I won't be driving it myself," he added.

He said he was "finished driving for some time."

TURNUED HEAD

The elderly man had admitted during his preliminary hearing that he had taken his eyes off the road for about 15 seconds to attend to the closing of a rear door which was not latched properly.

In turning his head, he ran through a stop sign into the path of a truck.

In the collision, Mr. Rowles, well known as leader of the Victoria Boys' Band since 1921, was thrown out of the car.

He died shortly afterward.

Five other persons were injured.

Prorogation On April 14 Expected

The Provincial Legislature is driving toward prorogation on Wednesday, April 14.

With the estimates debate completed, the only major bill left on the House agenda is the new Labor Relations Act.

Although the CCF will provide strong opposition to portions of the act, amendments will be restricted to what they term "the most objectionable" sections.

Some 15 new bills have yet to be introduced in the House although they have been standing on the order paper for several days. They deal with non-controversial matters.

Opposition and government members alike are expecting to wind up the session by Wednesday to enable out-of-town MLAs sufficient time to return home for Easter. The session started February 16.

Funeral services will be held Saturday for Henry Holmes, retired gardener, a resident here for 52 years, who died Wednesday night at home, 1010 Burnside Road West. He was 84.

Born in Buckinghamshire, England, Mr. Holmes once operated greenhouses on Burnside Road and Holland Avenue. At one time he managed the soldiers' and sailors' home in Esquimalt, and was an active member of the Ward Four Conservative Association.

He was an original member of the Burnside Lawn Bowling Club and helped build St. Columba Church, Strawberry Vale.

Surviving are two sons, Frederick Henry and Stanley T. both of Victoria, and one grandson.

The funeral will be held Saturday at 3 p.m. at McCall Bros. Funeral Chapel. Interment will be at Colwood.

Girls Convict Drug Peddler

Frank Cross To Be Sentenced at End Of Assizes on 3 Narcotics Charges

Frank Cross, 26, of Victoria, was today found guilty of offering and selling drugs.

The convictions were brought in by an Assize Court jury after hearing evidence from two teen-age girls, who admitted using heroin, and to have engaged in prostitution.

The convictions followed a guilty verdict Wednesday on a third charge of illegally possessing drugs.

Joyce Walker, 17, gave evidence that she had purchased heroin capsules from Cross last December. She said she and Margaret Islip, 18, who also testified, met Cross in a Chinatown restaurant.

She said she went to an automobile with Cross, and in the car purchased heroin capsules wrapped in silver paper.

Miss Walker testified she put these in her mouth, then went back to rejoin Miss Islip.

Miss Islip took the stand to state she and her companion, with two sailors, went to Miss Walker's home, obtained a syringe, then went to a room on Menzies Street.

She described to the courtroom, which was packed with spectators, how she injected the dope into her veins.

"I got a wonderful sensation," Miss Islip related. "It was like sitting on top of the world. I could hear people speaking distinctly, yet I felt I was far away."

She said Miss Walker also took some heroin, but the sailors did not.

Later that night, Miss Islip said they took another "fix" and she felt the same sensations. The next morning she tried again to take dope but felt sick in the stomach, she said.

On December 18, Miss Islip said she met Cross again and she told him that the third time she tried to take the dope she had felt sick. "He offered to give me some more," she said. "He pulled out of his pocket a small rubber ball. I refused to take it."

Under cross-examination, Miss Islip admitted that when she was 16 she had served time in the girl's industrial school in Vancouver.

Second 'Fix' Made Her Feel Sick

"Why?" asked defense counsel James Proudfoot.

"My mother put me there because I was incorrigible," she replied.

Crown Prosecutor George Gregory asked the court to convict Cross on the two charges, claiming that the Crown had proved its case beyond a reasonable doubt that Cross was engaged in selling drugs and had offered drugs to Miss Islip.

Mr. Proudfoot's defense was that evidence was entirely based on the two women who used drugs and had been engaged in prostitution.

"Surely you can not convict the accused on the evidence of these two women in view of their past record," he said.

Police Amalgamation Report 'Unfounded'

Commissioner Hamilton Denies RCMP Asked to Provide Metropolitan Force

A possible reduction of Victoria's police force was indicated at a police commission meeting Wednesday, but subsequent reports that RCMP may take over city police work or that Greater Victoria will consider amalgamation of police services are said to be completely unfounded.

Quered on reports in a morning paper concerning RCMP taking over the city police force or establishment of a metropolitan police force, were the attorney-general's department, RCMP authorities, the mayor, Reeves of Esquimalt, Oak Bay and Saanich and a member of the police commission. The denials were spontaneous.

COST-CUT REVIEW
The rumors followed Wednesday's commission meeting when a job-by-job review of Victoria's 87-man force was planned as a cost-cutting measure, in the face of a $14,000 pay increase granted the policemen Monday through a conciliation board award.

Mayor Claude Harrison suggested reductions because Victoria "should have a police force more comparable with other cities in the number of policemen per thousand of population."

Commissioner W. J. Hamilton had told the other members earlier that only Montreal and Toronto had more police per thousand than Victoria.

The mayor urged that commissioners Hamilton and Gordon Carter "... go over the police department and see where it can best be reorganized and money saved."

ALREADY BEGUN
Commissioner Hamilton indicated the task was already begun. He said that increasing costs could mean "curtailment of services in order to get by on money forthcoming."

Today the commission's remarks had mushroomed and three possibilities were put forward, based on "reliable reports."

• First, that Victoria had called an intermunicipal meeting suggesting amalgamation of municipal police forces.

• Second, that Victoria may approach or has suggested already that RCMP take over policing of this area.

• And finally, that the RCMP might be called upon to integrate the four police forces of Greater Victoria.

Refuting the above were the following statements:
NO INTENTION
Police Commissioner W. J. Hamilton: "The commission has never discussed contracting for RCMP services." A meeting of municipal police commissions has been called, but it has no

Power Commission Plans $660,000 Job
A new control centre for the B.C. Power Commission at Nanaimo will be constructed in the near future at a cost of $660,000.

The unit will be located at the Jingle Pot terminal of the 138,000-volt transmission circuit from the John Hart development at Campbell River. Another commission project will be the electrification of $200,000 rural district between Upper and Lower Arrow Lakes, in the interior.

ASK THE TIMES

Q—Laurence Irving, son of Sir Henry Irving and his theatrical company appeared in Victoria shortly before the First Great War. Can you tell me the date?—S.A.

A—Laurence Irving, whose leading lady was his wife, Mabel Hackney, played at the Royal Victoria Theatre, April 13-18, 1914, in three pieces, "The Unwritten Law," "The Lily" and "Typhoon." It was the actor's only tour of Canada, though he had visited Toronto on two previous occasions, on one of which he accompanied his illustrious father. Tragedy overtook him on his way home to England, for he and his wife were among the more than 1,000 who lost their lives when the liner Empress of Ireland was sunk in collision with the Norwegian collier Storstad in the lower St. Lawrence River early on May 29, 1914.

Q—What is the population of Fort William?—F.R.M.

A—At the census of 1951 there were 34,947 in that city.

Brighten Your Living Room
With Pieces of Shiny Bronze

By PENNY SAVER

Modern home-makers—attention! Whether you live in a mansion or three-room apartment, it's home to you, and you spend many hours there.

Who wants to live in drab surroundings? Not me! You probably feel the same way. Why, then, don't more folks realize that little things . . . a vase of flowers, bright curtains or a shiny ornament on the mantelpiece . . . are all that's needed to add cheerfulness to a home?

When I saw a display of bronze in a jeweler's store yesterday, I felt like buying every article and filling our living room. They seemed so unusually bright. The sales girl explained that it's because each piece is given a baked enamel finish to preserve the polisher's sheen. Great thing about this enamel (colorless of course) is that you need never polish the pieces, for they never tarnish. If they become a bit dusty, a swish in lukewarm water will restore them to their original newness.

For an orchid bowl of this bronze, you would pay $7.50 and for a huge, wedding ring flower bowl, the price is $14. Dainty relish dishes are $2.50.

My favorites were the cigarette holders. These aren't cigarette holders in the usual sense of the word. One of them is made from a strip of the bronze, the ends curl up, scroll-like, to meet at centre. There are two holes in each "scroll" in which you place the cigarettes, upright. That is, each holder accommodates four cigarettes. Then slip a folder of matches between the scrolls and place several of the holders around the room for your guests. A set of four holders costs $8.50.

Pastel mauve and white nylon gloves may be just what some young bride-elect is looking for, for her attendants, or even for herself. These are most attractive, for they were made of the sheer nylon tricot, with a wide wrist ruffle of matching nylon net. The net is dotted with tiny flowers and there is a chain of the same flowers at the join of the tricot and net . . . couldn't help noticing these—especially as they are just $1.50 a pair.

TODAY'S RECIPE

WHITE HOUSE
LAYER CAKE

One-half cup butter, 1 cup sugar, 2 unbeaten egg yolks, 2 cups sifted cake flour, 2 tsp. baking powder, ½ cup water, 1 tsp. vanilla, 2 beaten egg whites.

Set aside two tablespoons of flour in a separate cup to mix with baking powder. After adding vanilla to the ½ cup water, alternate the water and sifted flour and mix with butter and sugar. Beat thoroughly, then add flour and baking powder mixture. Fold in egg whites that have been beaten until firm, but not dry. Bake in two nine-inch layer pans in moderate oven (375 degrees) for about 20 minutes. Icing—Two tablespoons butter, juice of one lemon, 1 lb. powdered sugar, 1 tablespoon grated lemon rind, 2 tablespoons cream. Mix to smooth paste.

WHY GROW OLD?

By JOSEPHINE LOWMAN

Try These Exercises
For Protruding Tummy

We have thought about what to do with bulging hips already this week. Today let us not forget the protruding tummy. Actually this defect probably ruins more figures than any other. Even in quite young women, it is often apparent.

Poor posture, the habit of allowing the abdominal muscles to slump forward, and the fact that most women do not use these muscles very strenuously, create this condition. Then too, pregnancy stretches the abdominal muscles and it is the rare woman who seriously reconditions after childbirth.

Try this exercise. Lie on the floor on your back with your legs straight. Bend your right elbow as you bend your left knee. Raise the right shoulder and the head off the floor as you touch your right elbow to your left knee. Return arm and leg to the floor. This time bend your left elbow and your right knee, raise your left shoulder and your head from the floor and touch your left elbow to your right knee. Return to floor. Continue, alternating.

The following exercise is an abdominal conditioner and also a good neck exercise. Lie on the floor on your back. Raise your left leg with a stiff knee as you lift your head from the floor and touch your chin to your chest (or bring it as near the chest as possible). Lower your leg and head to the floor. This time raise your right leg as you raise your head. Return both leg and head to the floor. Continue, alternating left and right.

A strong abdominal wall is important to a woman because of health as well as appearance. This is an easily won attribute. Why not invest in it?

If you would like to have my exercises for abdominal reduction and toning, send a stamped, self-addressed envelope with your request for leaflet No. 2, "Abdominal Exercises," Address Josephine Lowman in care of this newspaper.

If you're a long-stemmed girl whose slips never are quite long enough, you can lengthen them in minutes. Buy slips that have untrimmed hemlines and add your inches in lace or net.

A bandeau of orange blossoms held her three-quarter-length wedding veil and she carried a cascade bouquet of yellow roses and white carnations. Her only jewelry was the groom's gift, a strand of pearls.

Miss Edna Gervais, maid of honor, was gowned in pale green net with floral hair bandeau and carried a cascading bouquet of white carnations and daffodils. Green iridescent silk taffeta with net insertions formed the gown of bridesmaid, Miss Ella Smith. Pink carnations were carried in her bouquet.

Brother of the bride, John Brown, was best man. White carnations and red rosebuds sprinkled on blue tulle surrounded the wedding cake which centred the bride's table. Vases of red roses flanked the cake. J. A. Malerby proposed the toast to the bride.

Mrs. Timothy donned a suit of dusky rose color, white alligator accessories and a fur cape.

NEWS BRIEFS

"Fined $75 or 15 days," said Magistrate H. C. Hall Wednesday when sailor Graham Arthur Clark appeared for sentence on a charge of taking a car without the owner's consent.

Clark had taken a car from a city parking lot Friday night and had driven off the highway near Duncan the following day. He was injured in the crash and was arrested by RCMP officers while in Duncan hospital.

Animal carvings by Canola Bart are on display at the Provincial Museum this month. Wood of the linden tree has been used to depict figures of bulls, stag, cow and goat. Deer and dogs have been reproduced in yellow pine.

There will be no mail delivery to residential areas on Good Friday, but a single home delivery will be made on Easter Monday, the office of the postmaster announced Wednesday.

Other Easter changes to be made include: wicket service in postoffices from 9 to 11 a.m. on Good Friday and from 8 a.m. to noon on Easter Monday, single delivery only for business houses on Easter Monday, and normal services both days with regard to lock-box facilities, special deliveries, and the receipt and dispatch of mail.

FIGHT POSTPONED

WASHINGTON (AP) — An injury to a nerve in the left foot of Archie Moore, world light-heavyweight boxing champion, has forced postponement of his 10-round, non-title bout with Jimmy Slade. The bout, originally set for April 14, now will be held May 12.

Fishing Operators Deny Japanese Invading Waters

VANCOUVER (RUP) — The British Columbia Fisheries Association today denied charges by the United Fishermen and Allied Workers' Union that Japanese fishermen were invading North Pacific salmon waters. The association said the Japanese fishermen were operating on the 17th meridian, more than half-way across the Pacific from Vancouver.

A spokesman said Japan voluntarily joined the new North Pacific Fisheries Commission with the United States and Canada.

"Had Japan not signed the treaty, her fishermen could have operated anywhere in the Pacific up to the three-mile territorial waters limit of British Columbia and Alaska," the spokesman said. "Salmon caught by the Japanese in the mid-Pacific are probably spawned in the rivers of Asiatic Russia anyway."

Not Court, Torture Chamber—Mossadegh

TEHRAN, Iran (UP) — Former Premier Mohammed Mossadegh complained today between tears that official threatened to lock him in a lunatic asylum because he wanted to commit suicide "to end my miseries" in jail.

Mossadegh, wrapped in a grey threadbare coat and wearing carpet slippers, trudged into the military revision court for a hearing on his appeal against a three-year term of solitary confinement imposed on treason charges.

"This is not a court of justice but a torture chamber," he jeered as the court session opened.

Arabs, Egypt Warn Israel

CAIRO (CP)—Egypt and other Arab countries "will in future meet every Israeli aggression with force," Foreign Minister Mahmoud Fawzy told Gen. Vagm Benmike, chief of the United Nations armistice commission, today.

In Jerusalem, a new shooting incident was reported today on the Israeli-Egyptian border.

An Israeli army spokesman said Egyptians fired across the border at an Israeli patrol on frontier duty near the settlement of Nirim and the patrol returned the fire. There were no Israeli casualties.

OAK BAY ORDERS MORE TRAINING

'Flip-Over' Fire Truck Probe Calls For More Practice in Driving New Pumper

Additional driving practice has been ordered for Oak Bay fire truck drivers.

Fire Chief Ed Clayards received the order after a municipal council investigation into last week's "flip-over" at St. Ann and Bowker.

The four firemen were unhurt.

The $20,000 truck, in service since last July, turned turtle while en route to a $1,500 fire at 2748 Dunlevy on March 31.

Damage has not been revealed but Fire Chief Clayards has been authorized to negotiate a settlement with the municipal insurance firm.

These fingers now free from warts, after using Deighton's WART REMOVER

Made from herbs. Not an acid. Warts and other fungus growth on hands, face, feet, removed permanently, within 3 to 5 weeks. Not injurious to healthy skin. Now obtainable at all drug stores.

The truck's driver was not blamed but it was stated he was "inexperienced."

An official investigation was conducted last Saturday afternoon by Oak Bay councillor George Gregory, MLA for Victoria.

Also probed was lateness of another Oak Bay fire truck in getting water on the Dunlevy Avenue fire. Reason was said to be the fact a valve had been turned off.

TO ATTEND CONFERENCE

Municipal clerk A. D. Findlay and his deputy were delegated to represent Oak Bay at the June conference of the Municipal Officers' Association.

Councillor Patrick Birley's report on the Nanaimo meeting of the Vancouver Branch of the UBCM which he attended, disclosed that Oak Bay would benefit by over $122,000 under a proposed provincial plan for distribution of school costs.

A letter from the Esquimalt Provincial Liberal Association requesting support for the proposed Gorge waterway plan was received and filed.

Councillor Birley expressed appreciation of the co-operation received from the Oak Bay Municipal Employees' Association in accepting council's wage offers of 6 per cent and 5 per cent for outside workers.

Airline's Record Marred By Accident

An air line safety record regarded as the world's best was marred by the fatal TCA crash at Moose Jaw today.

The first occurred at Armstrong, Ontario, February 6, 1941 when 12 died in a Lockheed twin-engine transport.

On April 29, 1947, a TCA Lockheed disappeared somewhere between Vancouver and Vancouver Island.

An intensive search by air, sea and land was carried on for nearly a month before hope of finding the lost plane and its 15 passengers and three crew members was abandoned.

At one time 50 aircraft, including 13 U.S. Coast Guard planes, took part in the search. They swept an area of 12,000 square miles without result.

The Esquimalt-based frigate Antigonish searched Gulf of Georgia waters, using asdic, and reported a contact near Gabriola Island.

However, navy divers who painstakingly searched 100,000 square feet of ocean floor found no trace of the plane.

Ground searches ran down reports of low-flying planes in the Duncan-Nanaimo area with out results. Search parties climbed Thunder Mountain, near Nanaimo, Mount Coquitlam and Seymour Mountain on the mainland.

Eye Witnesses Tell Grim Tale

MOOSE JAW, Sask. (BUP)

The North Star airliner which crashed in flames into north-eastern Moose Jaw today was "smoking" before it plunged to earth, a Moose Jaw car dealer said.

Mac McKay, the car dealer, said he saw the North Star in trouble over a golf course shortly after 10 a.m. MST.

"I didn't see the collision but I saw the big plane in trouble," he said. "It was smoking and while I watched a wing dropped."

"There was an explosion at about 3,000 or 4,000 feet but the plane didn't disintegrate. We heard another explosion after the plane had fallen out of sight."

Mr. McKay said he saw the plane fall into the golf course and saw the great plane plunging earthward.

One engine of the four-engined airliner was found eight or 10 blocks away, a distance of about a mile. The bodies of the victims were scattered over a very large area.

The planes crashed only one block from Ross Public School. The school principal, Miss Bowring, organized an orderly exit from the school.

Gordon MacKinnon was on the eastern city limits when he looked up and saw the TCA plane. A second later he saw either the wing or the tail of the plane drop off and the plane began spinning towards the earth.

Lorne Silverman, who was three-quarters of a mile from the crash heard a dull thud from the northern section of the city.

There were indications the new labor bill would come up for second reading later today. It is assured safe passage through the House, having gained unanimous approval in Social Credit caucus.

CCF members have a "raft of amendments" to offer.

MOOSE JAW, Sask. (CP)—Thirty-six persons were killed today when a westbound Trans-Canada Air Lines North Star and an RCAF training plane collided over northeastern Moose Jaw and crashed in flames.

Eye-witnesses said the Harvard trainer, carrying a pilot only, smashed into the right wing of the four-engined passenger aircraft with 31 passengers and crew of four aboard.

Early reports said there were no survivors in the worst accident ever involving a scheduled airliner in Canada.

The North Star, its wing torn off by the collision, tumbled to earth, turning into a great ball of flame as it dropped.

Pieces flew everywhere as it struck the ground. One gas tank crashed into a house and set it afire.

Two other houses also were set ablaze.

Hundreds of men and women, who searched the Willowdale golf course where the TCA plane struck found no survivors.

The Harvard trainer was based at the North Atlantic Treaty Organization field near Moose Jaw.

Trans-Canada at Montreal said 31 passengers, including five travelling on company passes, and four crew were aboard the North Star on the Winnipeg-Calgary leg of its transcontinental flight. The plane left Montreal and Toronto Wednesday night, delayed by thunder storms in western and northern Ontario.

At 11:30 a.m. (10:30 p.m. PST) 16 bodies had been recovered. That was about an hour and 15 minutes after the aerial collision.

Lot seems 't' depend on viewpoint. Feller stalled in a traffic tangle swears there ain't enuff policemen aroun' town. But anybody overparked fer 15 minutes knows there's too darn many of 'em.
